This report focuses on love, marriage and relationships. It reads your houses of romance and partnership (the 5th of love, 7th of marriage and the spouse, 2nd of family) along with Venus and Mars and your running dasha, and gives you the dated windows most favourable for engagement, marriage and deepening a bond.

Ascendant (Lagna)

Current Antardasha

Your running dasha sets the deeper backdrop for this period; the dated tables that follow show when the transiting planets bring that backdrop to life for each area below.

♥ Love & Relationships · Good (72/100)

Affectionate and harmonious this month — good for quality time, honest talks and strengthening your relationship. Momentum is with you, so steady, confident effort is rewarded. It is a fertile time to build, finish and consolidate — push the things that are nearly there over the line, and lay foundations you'll be glad of later. Keep your focus narrow and your follow-through clean, and the gains compound.

Advice: Make the time — a small plan together goes further than usual.

👨👩 Family & Home · Excellent (77/100)

Warm family harmony this month — favourable for gatherings, reconciliation and joyful domestic events. This is a window to act, not wait — the supporting influences are at their strongest, so the bold, well-judged move you've been considering is favoured now rather than later. Put yourself forward, ask for what you want, and start what matters; outcomes tend to land in your favour and the goodwill of others flows toward you. The only real risk is hesitation or spreading yourself too thin.

Advice: A warm day at home — make the gathering happen.

Luck & Fortune · Good (71/100)

A fortunate phase this month — say yes to opportunities and put yourself forward; doors open more easily. Momentum is with you, so steady, confident effort is rewarded. It is a fertile time to build, finish and consolidate — push the things that are nearly there over the line, and lay foundations you'll be glad of later. Keep your focus narrow and your follow-through clean, and the gains compound.

Advice: Put yourself where opportunity is — a call, a visit, an application.

3 Your 7th House & Marriage

Your 7th house governs marriage, the life partner, business partnerships, and dealings with the public. It falls in Aquarius (original, humanitarian, independent and forward-thinking), and its lord is Saturn. This lord is placed in your 5th house, linking the matters of marriage, partnership and the spouse with intelligence, children and creativity. No planet sits here, so these matters are read chiefly through the placement and strength of the house lord above. It also receives the protective aspect of Mercury and the testing aspect of Saturn. The natural significator of this house, Venus, sits in your 12th house, which further conditions the results.

Marriage and partnership are read from the 7th house, here moderately supported, with its lord Saturn placed in your 5th house (neutral). The 7th house describes your spouse, the nature of your union and all one-to-one partnerships.

Venus, the significator of love and marriage (kalatra karaka), sits in Cancer in your 12th house (neutral) — giving workable, steady results in love. By the Jaimini system your Darakaraka (spouse-indicator) is Jupiter, whose qualities often mirror those of your life partner.

Most supportive periods for marriage and partnership across your life are Rahu-Saturn (2007–2010, Favourable); Jupiter-Saturn (2022–2024, Favourable); Saturn-Saturn (2036–2039, Excellent); Saturn-Venus (2042–2046, Favourable); Saturn-Moon (2047–2048, Favourable). These dasha windows — whether already passed or still to come — are when union, commitment and harmony in partnership are most strongly favoured.

Venus — love & the spouse (kalatra karaka)

Venus in Cancer, 12th house. Venus represents your capacity for love, beauty, pleasure and refinement, and signifies marriage and spouse, luxury, vehicles, art and comforts. Placed in Cancer — a water sign of movable quality ruled by Moon — its energy expresses through an emotional, nurturing, intuitive and home-loving temperament. Falling in your 12th house of loss, expenditure and liberation, Venus directs this force toward expenditure, foreign lands, isolation, spirituality, sleep, and ultimate liberation. The planet is in a neutral dignity here, giving mixed but workable results shaped by the rest of the chart. It occupies the nakshatra Pushya (pada 2, deity Brihaspati (the guru)), colouring its results with nourishment, wisdom, devotion and protective care. Here Venus is conjunct Sun (with friction), Jupiter (harmoniously), Ketu (with friction), so their energies blend and modify one another in this house. By Vedic aspect (drishti) it casts its gaze on the 6th house, extending its influence there. In turn it receives the aspect of Mars, whose influence further shapes these matters. Used consciously, this placement lets you attract love, beauty.

Jupiter — wisdom & (for women) the husband

Jupiter in Cancer, 12th house. Jupiter represents your wisdom, faith, expansion and good fortune, and signifies children, wealth, the teacher (guru), dharma and fortune. Placed in Cancer — a water sign of movable quality ruled by Moon — its energy expresses through an emotional, nurturing, intuitive and home-loving temperament. Falling in your 12th house of loss, expenditure and liberation, Jupiter directs this force toward expenditure, foreign lands, isolation, spirituality, sleep, and ultimate liberation. Here the planet is exalted — at its absolute strongest — and bestows its finest, most elevated results in full measure. It occupies the nakshatra Pushya (pada 1, deity Brihaspati (the guru)), colouring its results with nourishment, wisdom, devotion and protective care. Here Jupiter is conjunct Sun (with friction), Venus (harmoniously), Ketu (with friction), so their energies blend and modify one another in this house. By Vedic aspect (drishti) it casts its gaze on the 4th, 6th, 8th houses, extending its influence there. In turn it receives the aspect of Mars, whose influence further shapes these matters. On the whole, well placed, you are blessed with wisdom, ethics, prosperity, respected teachers and the protection of grace.

Mars — passion, drive & Mangal

Mars in Aries, 9th house. Mars represents your energy, courage, drive and capacity for action, and signifies siblings, land and property, competition and courage. Placed in Aries — a fire sign of movable quality ruled by Mars — its energy expresses through a bold, pioneering, energetic and independent temperament. Falling in your 9th house of fortune, dharma and higher wisdom, Mars directs this force toward fortune and grace, father, guru, religion, higher learning, long journeys and ethics. In its own sign the planet is comfortable and strong, protecting and steadily supporting these matters. It occupies the nakshatra Krittika (pada 1, deity Agni (fire)), colouring its results with sharpness, purifying drive, ambition and a cutting honesty. By Vedic aspect (drishti) it casts its gaze on the 12th, 3rd, 4th houses, extending its influence there. On the whole, well placed, you act with courage and decisiveness, defend what is yours and excel in competition, sports, engineering or the forces.

5 Mangal Dosha (Manglik) Check

Mars sits in a Manglik house counted from your Moon, so a Mangal (Manglik) dosha is present. Traditionally this asks for care in the timing and matching of marriage — yet it is very commonly cancelled: by Mars being in its own or exalted sign, by a benefic aspect, by marrying after the 28th year, or by matching with a partner who is also Manglik (the classic mutual cancellation). A Kundali-matching report compares both charts specifically for this.

Your Married Life — Home, Children & Harmony

2nd house — family & togetherness

Your 2nd house governs accumulated wealth, family life, food, speech, early education and your values. It falls in Virgo (analytical, precise, practical and service-minded), and its lord is Mercury. This lord is placed in your 1st house, linking the matters of wealth, family and speech with self, body and vitality. No planet sits here, so these matters are read chiefly through the placement and strength of the house lord above. It also receives the testing aspect of Saturn, Rahu. The natural significator of this house, Jupiter, sits in your 12th house and is well dignified, which further conditions the results.

4th house — domestic happiness & home

Your 4th house governs mother, home, land and property, vehicles, education and emotional contentment. It falls in Scorpio (intense, secretive, determined and transformative), and its lord is Mars. This lord is placed in your 9th house, linking the matters of home, mother and happiness with fortune, dharma and higher wisdom, and being own it protects and strengthens these results. No planet sits here, so these matters are read chiefly through the placement and strength of the house lord above. It also receives the protective aspect of Moon, Jupiter and the testing aspect of Mars, Ketu. The natural significator of this house, Moon, sits in your 10th house and is well dignified, which further conditions the results.

5th house — romance & children

Your 5th house governs children, intelligence, creativity, romance, speculation and past-life merit. It falls in Sagittarius (optimistic, philosophical, freedom-loving and ethical), and its lord is Jupiter. This lord is placed in your 12th house, linking the matters of intelligence, children and creativity with loss, expenditure and liberation, and being exalted it protects and strengthens these results. The house is occupied by Saturn (a testing influence), whose energy colours these affairs directly — strengthening them where benefic, and demanding effort where malefic. The natural significator of this house, Jupiter, sits in your 12th house and is well dignified, which further conditions the results.

8th house — intimacy & the longevity of marriage

Your 8th house governs longevity, sudden events, inheritance, the occult, research and deep transformation. It falls in Pisces (compassionate, imaginative, spiritual and sensitive), and its lord is Jupiter. This lord is placed in your 12th house, linking the matters of longevity, transformation and the hidden with loss, expenditure and liberation, and being exalted it protects and strengthens these results. No planet sits here, so these matters are read chiefly through the placement and strength of the house lord above. It also receives the protective aspect of Jupiter and the testing aspect of Ketu. The natural significator of this house, Saturn, sits in your 5th house, which further conditions the results.

Your 7th house — the house of the spouse — falls in a Air sign, suggesting a life partner who is communicative, intellectual, social and adaptable — someone who meets you mind-to-mind. With Venus in a Water sign, you are also drawn in love to emotional, nurturing, intuitive and devoted qualities. Look for someone whose values, temperament and life-goals align with yours — the horoscope points to the type, but shared understanding and respect complete the match.
